Adult Workshops presents:

Painting the Portrait & Landscape in Watercolor with Stan Miller

Stan Miller is a signature member and award winner (Dresser Award) with the American Watercolor Society. He teaches workshops throughout the U.S. as well as in Europe (with Plein Air Painters of America). He recently won the grand prize in the Watercolor Magic Magazine painting competition. He also recently won first place in Landscape in the Artist Magazine National painting competition. For more info: www.stanmiller.net

This workshop will address the fundamentals of watercolor painting; color, technique, composition, and choosing a paintable subject based on one's skill level. Stan will demonstrate the landscape and the portrait, using a variety of styles and approaches, from realism to impressionism to abstraction. Students will have the option of painting from the instructor's hand-outs, from their own photos (higher contrast photos are easier to paint), from their own sketches or from their imagination. All painting styles are welcome. Students should bring at least five to ten photos of subjects they might be interested in painting, some of the photos should be enlarged. Also, students have the option of bringing one drawing or painting for a private individual critique.

This workshop is intended for the beginner (with some basic experience) to the advanced student.
